SIERRA MADRE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 1, 1913

NO. 44

LIBRARY REPORT SHOWS MANY BOOKS ARE USED

Circulation reports of the Sierra Madre public library for the past year show that the equivalent of one volume a month was loaned to every man, woman and child in Sierra Madre, based on the 1910 census report. However, the 1910 census figures are now too small and the number of library card holders is only about half the population. So the figures fall except as a basis of comparison. The annual report of the local library to the state librarian contains some interesting figures.

Total circulation during the library year from July 1, 1912, to June 30, 1913, was 15,445. Of this total 10,778 were bound volumes and 4,667 unbound periodicals and pamphlets.

During the year 529 new books have been added, in addition to the accumulation of about 45 of the best weekly and monthly periodicals. The total number of volumes in the library is now 4,279.

Expenditures during the year amounted to $1,552.39. The receipts from taxes were $1,445.31, the apparent overdraft being due to the fact that the library year fixed by the state librarian does not coincide with the city's tax year and some of the heavy expenditures of two city tax levies fell within the one library year. The expenditures were distributed as follows: Librarian, janitor, etc., $592; Books, $592.12; Periodicals, $104.50; stationery and supplies, $16.25; furniture and equipment, $28.95; heat, light and water, $48.57; insurance, $87.50; building and grounds, $182.50.

New Books Received

Accessions to the bookshelves have made necessary the installation of two new stacks which have been placed in the main reading room. Additional lights will be put in position soon to make the books more accessible at night.

Among the recent accessions to the library are the following, taken at random from the accession book:

Earth Works out of Tuscany, Maurice Hewlett.
Tales of Mean Streets, A. Morrison.

KNOWLTON-DRAPER

Pearle J. Knowlton and Alice Margaret Draper, both giving their address as 745 East Fifty-second place, Los Angeles, were married Wednesday afternoon by Rev. W. H. Stubbs at his residence on Windsor Lane. The ceremony was the culmination of an exciting search for someone competent to tie the knot, which caused several people about town to sniff knowingly and hint at an elopement. The couple gave their ages as 27 and 18, and had all the necessary credentials, but some were inclined to doubt the statement of the bride's age as being correct. The groom gave his occupation as a grocer. It is reported that they continued their journey into the mountains for a honeymoon outing at one of the summer resorts.

JULY REALTY TRANSFERS

The Mead-Gilliland Realty Company report the following sales negotiated during the month of July:

S. R. Uorris to C. C. Berger, lot 22 in Norris tract.

W. L. Gilliland to T. P. Cook, west half of lot 34, Park Manor.

L. C. Torrance to T. P. Cook, east half of lot 34, including 6-room house, lots 35 and 36, Park Manor.

E. N. Mead to H. Hansen, lot 25, Sierra Madre Heights tract, with 5-room house.

HOME OF TRUTH

Devotional services Sunday at 3:30 at the Home of Truth, 493 Auburn avenue. Harriet C. Hamor, speaker. Everyone one cordially invited. Sunday school at 2 o'clock.

The Pacific Commercial Advertiser (Honolulu): Barry S. Ulrich, connected with the law offices of Thompson, Watson, Wikler & Lymer, and a graduate of Harvard law school was yesterday granted a license to practise law by Judge Robinson, and took the necessary oath.

VALUE OF FORESTS

PROTECTION THEY GIVE DEMANDS CAREFUL PROTECTION IN RETURN

(From the Sacramento Bee)

Aside from their value as timber producers, forests serve many important purposes, the most important of which is the conservation of our water supply. Forests store the waters with which the valleys are irrigated. The forests are the great natural storage reservoirs.

They are better than levees for the prevention of floods, for were it not for the great forest covers of the Sierra and vast foothill regions tributary to the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, the orchards, farms, cities and villages in the trough of each valley would be washed away with the first appearance of warm spring rain on the snow-clad forestless mountains and hills.

Forests are protectors as well as wealth producers, and they in turn must be protected.

California owes to the coming generations the perpetuation of the forests. Now is the time to begin, before it is too late. The plan is simple, so simple, in fact, that the wise conservationists have failed to grasp it.

The first step is to control the cutting of timber by prohibiting destruction of immature growth. Then compel lumbermen to dispose of the slash, and prohibit its being left to lie on the ground a constant fire menace to the reproduction of the forests.

The next step—and one which should be taken at the same time as the first, as a sort of jump—is to provide for complete fire patrol of the forests and wooded areas during the dry summer months, organize County Forest Protective Associations financed by the county and state jointly, and to be utilized to stamp out fires before they become "forest fires."

With the timberland owners compelled by a simple, stringent, direct law, and with fire fighting facilities perfected, the last step can be undertaken.

It is replanting, or artificial forestation. By this means the cutover lands now denuded and upon which chaparral and greasewood have encroached, can be reforested.

This work can be done by the paid state firewardens and fire patrols. The state could supervise the work and furnish extra crews during the planting season, and furnish other crews—and none of them need be large—for the production of the young trees at a state nursery.

A tract of a few hundred acres would be sufficient to produce all the young trees needed, and within a decade every acre of land upon which a former forest stood, but is now nude, could be replanted.

The pine species could be renewed by planting the seeds which the wardens and patrolmen could gather—as the forest rangers now do for the government—during the fall months.

This general plan is not an elaborate one. It is simple and direct, and would cost the state not more than $100,000 a year for the first few years, and in the end produce millions in revenue and save other millions by the prevention of floods and the saving of crops.

There is no sentiment in conservation of the forests. It is a clear-cut, simple business proposition which the state must face. The wood-using industries, the farming and horticultural industries and the timber industry are too valuable to be whistled away with indifference.

It is about time that the people of California open their eyes to this danger, and use the power of public demand to compel—it can be secured in no other way—the legislature to enact a sane forest reservation law, and then for the state to enforce it.

Examples of the way European countries are perpetuating their forests may be cited, and examples of the way the older states of the East are struggling with the problem of denuded forests may be called to the attention of the reader; but these should be unnecessary, as California has the problem now.

A decade from now it might be too late to begin conservation, because we might not have many forests to conserve.

LARGER EXPRESS QUARTERS

Carpenters have been at work this week enlarging the Pacific Electric station building. Passengers will derive no benefit from the change except indirectly, the added room being intended for the use of the Wells Fargo express business. Agent Kelsey will no longer have his ticket office cluttered up with express shipments, and the passenger end of the station will no longer be used for storage in rainy weather so it will no longer be necessary to keep passengers standing outside in the rain in order to protect express shipments. The method of enlarging the building kept a good many people busy guessing for a time. The building was literally sawed in two pieces. The south end was then moved out the required distance and the roof and side walls spliced in the breach which was opened up.

ANOTHER MOVING PICTURE SHOW

Representatives of a moving picture concern were in Sierra Madre this week looking over the ground with a view of starting a picture show here. They did not seem disconcerted by reports of the fate of the club house picture enterprise, apparently confident that they would be able to furnish a brand of movies and accompanying entertainment that would draw paying crowds. Lacking suitable quarters they suggested some sort of open-air quarters until fall, by which time they hoped to be able to lease or build. Money talk did not seem to bother them at all, but it may have been stage money they talked about.

NEW OWNER FOR GROCERY

H. P. Olsen has purchased the grocery store formerly conducted by N. T. Brown, and which has been in the hands of the Wholesalers' Board of Trade. He will continue to operate the store in the old quarters adjoining the bank and promises to conduct a high class establishment. Mr. Olsen has been a resident of Sierra Madre for many years and was formerly proprietor of the Live Oak Dairy. He has a well-earned reputation for integrity. His son, John, is associated with him in the conduct of the grocery business.

ANOTHER FORD IN TOWN

F. H. Hartman is the latest Sierra Madre resident to join the ranks of the Ford owners, having received his new car Thursday. It makes the second car sold by Milton Steinberger this month, but he says there are other prospects "nibbling." The Ford factory branch in Los Angeles has just received another large shipment after having been sold out for some weeks, so that cars are now available for immediate delivery.

MAYOR'S NEW AUTO

Mayor C. W. Jones is driving a handsome new Hudson touring car received this week. Incidentally he has had to put up with a lot of good natured joshing from his friends. This was due to the coincidence between the sale of the city water bonds and the purchase of the car. The other city officials are also being quizzed as to what they are going to buy with "their share" of the bond proceeds.

On one occasion, just previous to opening in one of the large Eastern cities, Joseph Jefferson discharged his property man, Bagley, for humiliating him before a number of friends by familiarly addressing him as "Joey." Bagley got drunk right away, and that night paid his way to the gallery to see Mr. Jefferson present "Rip Van Winkle." The angry frau had just driven poor, destitute Rip from the cottage, when Rip turned, and with a world of pathos, asked: "Den haf I no interest in dis house?" The house was deathly still, the audience half in tears, when Bagley's cracked voice responded: "Only eighty per cent, Joey—only eighty per cent."

In answer to the question, "Does an Education pay?" a recent article in "Success" puts it in this forcible manner: "Does it pay to learn to make life a glory instead of a grind? Does it pay to open a little wider the door it pay to open a little wider the door power to the lens of the microscope or telescope? Does it pay to know how to take the dry, dreary drudgery out of life? Does it pay to taste the exhilaration of feeling one's powers unfold? Does it pay to push one's horizon farther out in order to get a wider outlook or clearer vision?"

While James McNeil Whistler, the eccentric American painter, was trying on a hat in a London shop one day, a customer rushed in, and mistaking Mr. Whistler for a clerk, exclaimed: "I say, this 'at doesn't fit." The artist eyed him for a minute, and then replied, scornfully: "Neither does your coat, and I'll be hanged if I like the color of your trousers."

Robert Lowe, afterward Lord Sherbrook, once saw a deaf member of Parliament trying his best to catch with his ear trumpet the words of an extremely dull speech. "Just look at that foolish man," said Lowe, "throwing away his natural advantages."

MAXIMS OF MARCUS AURELIUS

Then wilt find rest from vain fancies if thou dost every act in life as though it were thy last.

As for life, it is a battle and a sojourning in a strange land, but the fame that comes after is oblivion.

The lot assigned to every man is suited to him and suits him to itself.

The universe is thought. Our life is what our thoughts make it.

Nothing can come out of nothing any more than a thing can go back to nothing.

BALDWIN ESTATE TAKES MONEY WITHOUT APPEAL

Contrary to predictions and the hopes of some persons who wanted to see the city's condemnation suit for the Baldwin water rights prolonged or defeated, the attorneys for the Baldwin estate accepted the award of Judge Conrey. The period for filing notice of appeal expired on Tuesday and local city officials could not feel entirely at rest until all possibilities of further litigation had passed. Bradner W. Lee, attorney for Executor Unruh, notified Senator Hewitt on Tuesday that his clients would accept the award, the cash having been deposited with County Clerk Leland the previous week.

The long drawn out litigation is therefore at an end and the city is in undisputed possession of the Baldwin half of the Little Santa Anita Canyon water. The partnership between the Baldwin people and the Sierra Madre Water Company has been finally dissolved, something which has been fondly hoped for by everyone connected with the company for many years. There is no doubt that the company officials will find the city a more desirable partner during the period yet remaining before the city takes possession of the company holdings as well.

Review of Proceedings

Condemnation proceedings were begun by the city against the Baldwin estate in February, 1910. The late J. A. Madden, then city attorney, began the suit, under order of the city trustees. Former Trustee J. J. Graham was the originator of the idea and made the motion in the board meeting.

Senator Leslie R. Hewitt was retained as advisory counsel. The case dragged along through all the stages known to the legal profession, being delayed from time to time for the accommodation of both sides. After the resignation of Mr. Madden as city attorney the whole case was placed in the hands of Senator Hewitt who was assisted by Attorney E. R. Young of Los Angeles.

The case was transferred from Judge Monroe to Judge Conrey before it was finally brought to trial. The right of the city to condemn the water for municipal purposes was sustained in the face of a bitter fight by Attorney Lee and other legal lights employed by the Baldwin estate. Judge Conrey set approximately $51,000 as the amount which the city should pay the Baldwin estate for the water acquired and for damages sustained by the Baldwin lands through loss of water.

Expert testimony regarding the need of the city for the water and its value was furnished by City Engineer Bixby and Engineer Sondregger, who had compiled a mass of maps and data which was an invaluable aid to the attorneys. For the Baldwin side the expert testimony was furnished by one F. C. Finkle, who put up a sorry bluff as a water expert after bragging that he would compel this city to pay a quarter of a million for the water. Finkle is the man recently nominated by Mayor Rose for police commissioner of Los Angeles, his name being withdrawn when it was seen the council would refuse to confirm the appointment. Some of the encomiums of Finkle which have appeared lately have caused wide grins on the faces of local people who watched his performances in the water case.

Bond Issues

When the case was first begun the citizens of Sierra Madre voted $40,000 in bonds to meet the costs, it being thought that amount would leave a balance to be used for improvements. When the award was finally made of the larger amount a supplementary issue of $20,000 was voted. Both issues were carried by more than three votes to one.

Records in the bond proceedings were submitted to the law firm of Dillon, Thompson and Clay of New York, who approved them as O. K., their opinion being regarded as about the last word in such matters next to the supreme court. When advertised for sale there were no bidders for the bonds and the outlook was discouraging. Then it was that Senator Hewitt rendered valuable services in addition to those in the trial of the case and the preliminary bond proceedings. Through familiarity with the state government and close relations with various officials he was able to find a market for the bonds with the state board of control, who have certain public monies for investment. The proceedings were reviewed and approved by the attorney general's office, the bonds taken and paid for. The judgment was satisfied and the balance is in the hands of City Treasurer Wolf.

Attempts to Nullify Bonds

While the New York attorneys were reviewing the proceedings and again while the state officials were investigating the validity of the bonds underhanded attempts were made to defeat the will of the people as expressed in voting the bonds. Anonymous letters were sent both places in which all sorts of questions were raised, not in the way of direct charges but designed to discredit the city's financial standing, the validity of the proceedings and local officials. The intention was to induce unfavorable opinions and prevent the sale of the bonds. But the large amount of effort which had been evidently devoted to preparation of the letters was wasted, the letters being in each case returned promptly to the local authorities.

SCANDAL PREFERRED TO NEWS

Redondo Reflex—Stories, without a single vestige of truth, published in Los Angeles dailies, concerning Catalina Island, have raised the indignation of the board of trustees of Avalon, the newly incorporated city. The newspaper correspondent responsible for the articles published was tendered an invitation to appear before that august body and taken into account for writing the sensational dope. The correspondent stated that after writing hundreds of truthful stories and having them consigned to the waste basket he got "next to the game" and changed his tune until the spicy stuff he wrote was accepted. It would seem from his confession that the larger newspapers pay their correspondents to lie. Avalon people will assist the board of trustees to put a stop to this notoriety which, in their opinion, will ruin the name of their city.

DUCKS WITHOUT PIN FEATHERS

Monrovia Messenger—Hal M. Slemmons may have to pay a royalty to Luther Burbank, or they may go into partnership. Mr. Slemmons has a big duck ranch and has been experimenting with spineless, thornless castus, feeding it to his ducks. The results have been astonishing and Mr. Slemmons can now announce that he is raising ducks without any pin feathers. He put ten ducks in a corral and fed them nothing but thornless castus and the eggs from these ducks produced the pin featherless variety. The contention of Mr. Slemmons is that much time is lost picking out pin feathers in dressing ducks for market but without these feathers thousands of dollars, in labor can be saved. Then, too, he asserts that cactus food is cheaper and may yet solve the problem of the high price of food. Each community raising pin featherless ducks and paying a little for the cactus food, could soon reduce the cost of living.

Among the Sierra Madre people who are enjoying a pleasant outing at Sturtevant's Camp this week are Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Welsch, Mr. and Mrs. Denison, Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, and Laurel Steinberger, and Miss Lelyea of Santa Monica who is Miss Steinberger's guest.

"Maudie's husband won't let her wear a tight bathing suit." "Why not?" "He does not wish to expose the family skeleton."

Six Rules to Observe to Prevent Disastrous Fires in the Mountains

RULES TO PREVENT MOUNTAIN FIRES

Precautions of the simplest kind would eliminate most of the loss resulting from forest fires, as shown by reports on the causes of the fires in the reserves last season.

Much could be accomplished by observance of the following six simple rules:

1. Be sure your match is out before you throw it away.
2. Knock out your pipe ashes or throw away your cigar or cigarette stump where there is nothing to catch fire.
3. Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary. Never leave it even for a short time without putting it OUT with water or dirt.
4. Don't build a camp fire against a tree or a log. Build a small one where you can scrape away the needles, leaves or grass from all sides of it.
5. If you discover a fire, put it out if possible; if you can't put it out, get word to the nearest U. S. forest ranger or state fire warden just as quickly as you possibly can.

Brief Items of Interest

Vacation time increases the difficulty of gathering news items, especially for this department, on account of the absence from town of so many people. The assistance of News readers who can furnish items of interest will be appreciated not only by the publisher but by other readers. Items may be mailed or telephoned either to the News office or to Miss Dorothy Humphries, Black 28. Send them as early in the week as possible, and to insure insertion they should be received by Thursday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Cornell have gone to La Jolla where they will spend the month of August.

Mrs. Curran and Miss Fay entertained over the week end a few friends from Los Angeles.

Mrs. Henry S. Smith of Hermosa is the house guest this week at the home of Mrs. C. E. Cook.

Mrs. Elizabeth Borglum and Miss Danet left Thursday for a two months' stay at Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Farman were the guests of friends for a few days last week in Huntington Beach.

Prof. and Mrs. J. Hart return this week from Redondo where they have been spending the past month.

Mrs. W. W. Collins and her daughter Mrs. P. B. Luce have gone to Avalon where they will spend a few days.

Mrs. M. Webster and Miss Lydia Webster have gone to Long Beach and will spend the coming month in the Vannier home.

Miss Margerie Melvin of Los Angeles has been the guest for a short time at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Hauxhurst.

Mrs. L. E. Jewett of Los Angeles and her cousin, Mrs. Williams, are enjoying a ten days' stay at Mrs. Jewett's home on Piedmont Heights.

Miss Marine Brown returned Wednesday from Los Angeles where she has been the guest for a short time of her friend, Miss Shapard.

Mrs. Ernest Yerxa enjoyed a two weeks' visit in Whittier last week where she was the guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. St. John.

Miss Hilda Humphries of Los Angeles was the guest over the week end at the home of her sisters, the Misses Lottie and Dorothy Humphries.

The Misses Mabel Breininger, Isobel Langton, Jessie, Marguerite and Beatrice Ward and Mrs. F. O. Nichols are spending the week in Long Beach.

Miss Edith Blumer returned last week from Nordhoff where she had been for a short time visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Thatcher.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Prior, Jr., of San Francisco were the guests one day last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fennel at their house on West Carter avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. R. Moote and family have gone to Long Beach where they have taken an apartment for the month of August, at the Earl Apartment House.

Mr. and Mrs. George Letteau, Mrs. Entwistle and Elinor Hinton have gone to Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, where they expect to remain for two or three weeks.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Walter Scott Greacen returned last week to their home in Monterey after having spent the past two months visiting at the home of Mrs. J. T. Mason. Miss Katherine Mason accompanied them and will remain in Monterey for a month.

Miss Anna McFadden, for many years a prominent member of the faculty of Miss Masters' school at Yonkers-on-the-Hudson, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Pierce on Thursday last. Miss McFadden and Mrs. Pierce were college classmates in Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. B. B. Bravinder and children have gone to La Jolla for the month of August.

Mrs. Joseph Bergien is spending a few weeks in Los Angeles at the home of her parents.

Mrs. Wilson of Los Angeles spent the week end visiting at the home of her niece, Mrs. H. T. Fennel.

Mrs. Goodloe, Mrs. Gilmer and two children have gone to La Jolla where they will be during the coming month.

T. Schlesinger is in San Francisco for a fortnight visiting his nephew, B. F. Schlesinger, manager of the Emporium.

E. Waldo Ward has left for his regular business trip after having spent a short time at his home on East Highland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Pierce enjoyed a delightful outing as week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. Rose A. Harris of Los Angeles at the doctor's outing place in Fish Canyon near Duarte.

A. S. Mead, accompanied by his father, E. N. Mead, drove to Riverside Monday to visit his alfalfa ranch. While there he concluded a deal for an adjoining fifteen acres, making a total of 25 acres.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keys, Miss Hodgkins and Mr. Stocksdale returned on Monday from their delightful motor trip to the Yosemite Valley. The party was away two weeks and spent a most pleasant time on the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Andrews have had as guests this week at their home Mr. Andrews' brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Andrews of Portland, Ore., and Mr. Andrews' nephew, Mr. Morris Andrews of Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Copps are guests at the home of Mr. Copps' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Copps, for a two months' vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Copps were twenty days on the ocean coming from the south of Mexico where they have been for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Mead returned Saturday from the east after an absence of several weeks. They visited their son, E. W. Mead, and family in Georgia, and later visited Mr. Mead's sisters in New Jersey, as well as his birthplace in Connecticut. Mr. Mead was present at the wonderful anniversary reunion of the survivors of Gettysburg on the Fourth.

A jolly crowd of young people are enjoying a house party at the cabin in Bailey's Canyon given by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brown of the Sierra Madre Villa, for their daughter, Miss Dorothy Brown, who is enjoying her summer vacation. Those in the party are the Misses Dorothy Brown, Rita Craig and Amy Chase of Pasadena and Dorothy Humphries, Messrs. Raymond Andrews, Groff Brown, and Morris Andrews, Hix and Max Thornburg of Newhall, and Everett Gardiner of Pasadena.

SONG OF PEACE.

THE grass is green on Bunker Hill.
The waters sweet in Brandwine;
The sword sleeps in the scabbard still.
The farmer keeps his flock and vine
Then who would mar the scene to-day
With vaunt of battlefield or fray?

The brave corn lifts in regiments
Ten thousand sabers in the sun;
The ricks replace the battle tents;
The bannered tassels toss and run.
The neighing steed, the bugle's blast—
These be but stories of the past

The earth has healed her wounded breast.
The cannons plow the field no more.
The heroes rest. Oh, let them rest
In peace along the peaceful shore!
They fought for peace; for peace they fell.

They sleep in peace, and all is well

The fields forget the battles fought;
The trenches wave in golden grain.
Shall we neglect the lessons taught
And tear the wounds again? Again?
Sweet Mother Nature, nurse the land
And heal her wounds with gentle hand

Lo, peace on earth! Lo, flock and fold!
Lo, rich abundance, fat increase,
And valleys clad in sheen of gold!
Oh, rise and sing a song of peace!
For Theseus roams the land no more.

And Janus rests with gusted door—
Joachim Miller (Died Feb. 17, 1913).

BREAKFAST TABLE TALK.

SAID the sausage to the buckwheat,
"Aw, you think you take the cake,
But the way you flap around here
Makes me have an inside ache."
Said the buckwheat to the sausage,
"Although you are inecog,
Your rooting for position
Makes it plain you are a hog."

The smooth, mellifluous sirup
Glanced at the dog and cat
And lisped in unlinked sweetness,
"I'm not so sure of that."

L'ENVOI.
Ain't it awful, Maple?
—W. J. Lampton in New York Sun

THE SILENCE.

I HEAR the silence round me breathe
In tones so soft and low.
I hear the shadows as they move.
In winds that round me blow:
Hush—hush—let no tears fall!
Hush—hush—God rules o'er all!

I HEAR the silence say to me
As here I sit and dream:
"All things are good—there is no pain.
I am not what I seem.
Come—come—I hold the truth!
Come—come—I banish ruth!"

I HEAR the silence as it sings,
And peace upon me falls.
The wounds of life she heals for me
Whene'er I list her calls—
Peace—peace—now comes to me!
Peace—peace—now comes to me!

—Isolina

WAGES.

IT takes a long, long time to learn
That raises are delayed
Because we seldom try to earn
More than we're being paid.

THE RING OF WORDS.

Bright is the ring of words
When the right man rings them.
Fair the fall of songs
When the singer sings them.
Still they are caroled and said;
On wings they are carried
After the singer is dead
And the maker buried.

Low as the singer lies
In the field of heather,
Songs of his fashion bring
The swains together.
And when the west is red
With the sunset embers
The lover lingers and sings
And the maid remembers.
—Robert Louis Stevenson.

UNCERTAINTY OF BOND INVESTMENTS.

Our jurisprudence and our business customs proceed on the theory that trustees for the funds of widows and orphans should, for the most part, avoid investing these funds in stocks because "dividends are uncertain" and should invest them in bonds because "interest is certain." But interest is not certain when the dollar is uncertain. Interest insures a fixed number of dollars, but it does not insure any fixed value in these dollars. Most widows and orphans whose funds have been invested in bonds during the last decade and a half have suffered from the high cost of living more than they could possibly have suffered from uncertainties in the dividends from ordinary standard investments in stocks. No wonder the world is full of unrest from the rising cost of living.—Professor Irving Fisher.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Let us lie low in the Lord's power and learn that truth alone makes rich and great.—Emerson.

Three things are great—
Conscience and will,
And courage to fulfill
The duties they create.
—Anon.

In this world the one thing supremely worth having is the opportunity to do worthily a piece of work the doing of which is of vital consequence to the welfare of mankind.—Roosevelt.

Never be discouraged because good things get on so slowly here. Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord.—George MacDonald.

THE UNSEEN MIRACLE.

The angel of the night, when night was gone,
High upon heaven's ramparts
cried "The dawn!"

And wheeling worlds grew radiant with the one
And undiminished glory of the sun.

And angel, seraph, saint and cherubim
Raised to the morning their exultant hymn.

All heaven thrilled anew to look upon
The great recurring miracle of dawn.

And in the little worlds beneath them men
Rose, yawned and ate and turned to toll again.
—Theodosia Garrison.

SPRING'S AWAKENING.

On yestere'en a glaucous sheen
Of waning light,
Vibrating bright,
Shimmered on downy grasses green.

And laughing waters danced in play,
Dashing and dorkling,
Furling and sparkling,
Over white pebbles on their way

Soft and sweet from the river banks,
Like an echoed swing
Of bird's rustling wing,
Music from tiny reeds' proud ranks

On glistening sands I did discern
The print of a hoof,
And on the roof
Of tangled fringe of moss and fern,

Lo, there, half hid and piping,
stood
On the quick'ning sod
Pan, the merry god,
Divine musician of field and wood!

Blue beamed the skies, and, whirling
From budding lairs,
Light winged airs,
Proclaimed sweet spring's awakening!

Editorial Chat*Make the Army Useful—

Los Angeles is busily engaged in trying to persuade war department officials of the necessity for an army post near that city. In case it is secured a fortune will be spent in buildings, fortifications and equipment. Then the post will be occupied by a garrison of officers and men who will have nothing to do but prepare to guard Los Angeles in a war which everybody hopes will never come. Why not put the soldiers to work at the very useful occupation of guarding the forest reserve against the fire peril which is likely to strike at any time. There is plenty of patrol work in summer to keep a good sized battalion busy, not to mention the actual work of firefighting. And the mountains are a good place for a young recruit to absorb a lot of things which every soldier ought to know. Of course it will be urged that such work is beneath the dignity of a soldier. But that depends on one's conception of what should be the motives of a soldier. If he is in the business purely for the money he gets out of it then his services ought to be absolutely at the command of the government for any purpose. If his ambition is to wear a uniform on dress parade and at social functions then he is a poor stick and ought to be drummed out of camp. If, in return for his pay check, he really desires to give some valuable service to his country then it would be difficult to find a more valuable field of endeavor than that of protecting and conserving the forests and the water supply which comes from the forest reserves.

Straight From the Shoulder—

Editor Palmer of the Hollywood Citizen is putting some punch into his editorials on the opposition of the investment companies to the new "blue sky law." He has been paying preliminary respects to Messrs. Elder, Davis and other officials of the big concerns who claim they will not be touched by the law but are opposing it out of consideration for the public. Palmer is not only an editor and lawyer, but he is conscientious, in spite of the fact that some people think there is no such animal. He also has plenty of nerve and the indications are that he is getting ready to plant that punch square on someone's jaw.

Take Your Chance—

Los Angeles barbers have evidently forgotten the lesson of the recent municipal election. Following the election of an open-town mayor with the slogan "throw the long hairs out," the barbers have raised the price of haircuts to 35 cents. The Rose men objected to the high cost of government by what they called the "long-hair" administration. And now the barbers are making it more expensive to have long hair trimmed! The action of the barbers may be found to have prophetic significance—in the long run the open town will be found to be more expensive than the old "long hair" regime. Up to date Mayor Rose has not done anything startling in the way of opening up the town, but there are plenty of indications that it is to be done gradually. Los Angeles has had experience enough to prove to any unbiased observer that it doesn't pay.

It Depends—

"Will American womanhood tolerate the vulgarity of the latest gowns?" queries an exchange. Depends on what you include in the expression "American Womanhood."

Don't Forget the If—

Some San Francisco investigator makes the startling announcement: "If the police were upright the gamblers would be put out of business." Yes, and a lot of other things, too. And if the higher officials and the "invisible government" were upright it would be a lot easier to keep the police upright!

Plenty of Monuments—

No need to erect a monument to the memory of Mellen, the retiring president of the New Haven road. There are already a-plenty which will bring him to mind. Instead of his name they bear the names of wreck victims who met death through the mismanagement of his railroad, a record probably without parallel in the history of American railroading. The road appears to have been operated, not in the interest of the public nor even of the stockholders, but for the benefit of a small group of inside manipulators. The public has not only had to pay the piper, financially, but to suffer the consequences of poor equipment and inefficient help with the inevitable long list of disasters.

Glendale Boosters—

Glendale has a right to be proud of the showing made by its Chamber of Commerce membership roll. The list published last week in the Glendale News contains 450 names. Such an aggregation as that ought to accomplish wonders.

Unusually Heavy Output—

Huntington Beach News: It is announced from Stockton this week that the canning campaign has opened. Quite true. Republican office-holders are being rapidly canned in California and most of them deserve that fate because of inefficiency.

Willie—Paw, what is the difference between genius and talent? Paw—Talent gets paid every Saturday, my son. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

Cooper—I say, Hooper, was Dr. Blinker guilty of a joke in his prayer for our public officials this morning? Hooper—How? Cooper—Didn't you notice that he prayed for the blessing of the Lord upon those who gayed the people?—Puck.

LIGHT

He was seated in the parlor
And he said unto the light,
"Either you or I, old fellow,
Will be turned down tonight."
—Cornell Widow.
